

Name

Date

Score

SET 10	trait	prediction	generalize	identical	pulse
	differential	correspondence	norm	beam	prevalence

No.	Sentence
1	The twins looked almost _____, but close friends could still distinguish them by their voices and gestures.
2	The survey measured the _____ of asthma among children living near busy roads and industrial areas.
3	A _____ equation describes how a quantity changes continuously, making it useful in physics, engineering, and economics.
4	Researchers should not _____ from a small urban sample to the whole population without stronger supporting evidence.
5	The laser _____ was directed at the sensor, allowing scientists to measure extremely small changes in distance.
6	The patient's _____ became irregular after the surgery, so nurses monitored his heart rate throughout the night.
7	In this school, completing homework before class is considered the _____ rather than an unusual sign of motivation.
8	Curiosity is a valuable _____ in researchers because it pushes them to question easy explanations and examine evidence carefully.
9	The economist's _____ about inflation proved inaccurate because energy prices rose much faster than expected.
10	There was a close _____ between the two maps, suggesting that poverty and poor transport access often overlapped.