

BBC 6 Minute English Listening Practice

Do You Need To Declutter Your Home?

Name: _____

Class: _____

Score: _____ / 20

No.	Sentence
1	Clutter fills homes in an untidy, disorganised way and may affect a person's _____.
2	One listener woke at _____ because of the urge to tidy.
3	Georgie describes herself as a _____, someone with little stuff.
4	A possible solution is _____, but decisions about what to keep can be hard.
5	Michelle Ogundehin says _____ is more tiring than people realise.
6	Our brains may have to _____ when surrounded by chaos.
7	A cluttered home can leave people feeling _____.
8	Sorting possessions can be _____ because objects may carry feelings.
9	Ingrid recommends clearing _____ at a time.
10	Trying to do too much may mean the task becomes _____ for you.

What is the main focus of the discussion?

- A Why people buy too many unnecessary household items.
- B How clutter affects people and how to manage it gradually.
- C Why minimalist homes are becoming popular on social media.
- D How television programmes have changed interior design habits.

What problem does the listener's message describe?

- A Clutter has become so stressful that it affects thinking and work.
- B Clutter has forced the listener to move house within a week.
- C Clutter has made the listener spend too much money on storage.
- D Clutter has damaged the listener's relationships with children.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

What attitude does Michelle Ogundehin express towards clutter?

- A She thinks people exaggerate its emotional impact.
- B She sees it as tiring because the brain must process it.
- C She believes it is mainly a problem of bad decoration.
- D She treats it as harmless if the home is still functional.

Why can visual clutter make people feel exhausted?

- A It makes people work longer hours at home.
- B It encourages people to buy more possessions.
- C It forces the brain to keep processing disorder.
- D It prevents people from remembering where things are.

What contrast is made in the advice about decluttering?

- A Clearing drawers is useful, while clearing cupboards is harmful.
- B Social media makes decluttering easier, while television makes it harder.
- C Quick dramatic action may create more chaos; gradual work is safer.
- D Physical tiredness matters more than emotional difficulty.

What is Ingrid Jansen's view on starting a decluttering task?

- A People should first empty the whole room to see all their possessions.
- B People should begin with small areas and proceed steadily.
- C People should wait until they have a full weekend free.
- D People should focus only on items with no financial value.

In "they've bitten off more than they can chew", what does the phrase refer to?

- A Starting a decluttering job that is too big or difficult.
- B Keeping too many old clothes and books in one room.
- C Feeling guilty about throwing away useful objects.
- D Copying advice from a television design programme.

What can be inferred about why people delay decluttering?

- A They may avoid it because it requires time and emotional decisions.
- B They usually do not believe clutter affects mental health.
- C They think decluttering only works if done dramatically.
- D They mainly fear that other people will judge their homes.

Why is the "room of doom" example mentioned?

- A To show that cluttered rooms are usually impossible to improve.
- B To illustrate how overambitious plans can quickly become chaotic.
- C To recommend clearing the worst room before any small spaces.
- D To prove that most people stop decluttering after two hours.

What is the broader conclusion of the discussion?

- A Decluttering is valuable, but it should be approached in manageable steps.
- B A clutter-free home is possible only for people who are minimalists.
- C Social media has made people more anxious about home organisation.
- D The main purpose of decluttering is to improve interior design.