

BBC 6 Minute English Listening Practice

Is Rejection Good for Us?

Name: _____

Class: _____

Score: _____ / 18

No.	Sentence
1	In a social media trend, people record conversations with _____, sometimes receiving a refusal.
2	She asked the taxi driver, "Can I _____?"; he refused.
3	In a shop, a request to have _____ in a bed received an unexpected yes.
4	Before her first approach, her _____ rose sharply.
5	By the fourth approach, she was _____ by whether the answer was yes or no.
6	The trend is not established therapy: it has not been _____.
7	Critics worry that strangers may be _____ without wanting this.
8	People posting the videos say the activity increases their _____.
9	Concern about how others judge them may increase young people's _____ when speaking to strangers.
10	The participant discovered that many strangers were willing to _____.

11 What does Neil suggest about experiencing rejection?

- A It feels pleasant once people reach adulthood.
- B It should be avoided until people become older.
- C It can be valuable despite being unpleasant.
- D It guarantees that future refusals will feel easy.

12 How did Hannah react to her first approach despite her usual self-image?

- A She felt frightened despite normally seeing herself as confident.
- B She felt relaxed because she expected everyone to agree.
- C She became anxious only after several approaches.
- D She relied on a friend to make the first request.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

- 13 What changed as Hannah made further approaches?
- A Approaching people became harder, while answers mattered less.
 - B Approaching people became easier, while answers mattered less.
 - C Approaching people became easier, but refusals stayed frightening.
 - D Approaching people stayed equally difficult regardless of replies.
- 14 Which contrast is made about the activity's name and status?
- A It was tested before being called a form of therapy.
 - B It is now used as a verified clinical treatment.
 - C It was first introduced as formal medical research.
 - D It is called therapy, although it has not been tested.
- 15 How do critics and video posters differ in their views of the trend?
- A Critics question filming strangers; posters report greater confidence.
 - B Critics oppose confidence; posters oppose filming strangers.
 - C Critics support formal therapy; posters avoid unfamiliar people.
 - D Critics question acceptance rates; posters seek medical treatment.
- 16 What might make some young people less willing to approach strangers, according to the psychologist?
- A Certainty that strangers will reject every request.
 - B Dislike of seeing other people's videos online.
 - C Worry that strangers will judge them unfavourably.
 - D Concern that strangers expect them to be perfect.
- 17 Why might deliberately making such requests feel like a positive step?
- A It proves that other people rarely form opinions about them.
 - B It gives them a way to assess strangers' personalities.
 - C It ensures that a therapist will monitor their progress.
 - D It may let them act against their fear of being judged.
- 18 What did Hannah's experience suggest about expecting rejection?
- A Most strangers preferred not to speak to her.
 - B Responses may be friendlier than she anticipated.
 - C Every unusual request was accepted without hesitation.
 - D A refusal was necessary before she felt more confident.