

BBC 6 Minute English Listening Practice

How Advertisers Make Us Spend Money

Name: _____

Class: _____

Score: _____ / 20

No.	Sentence
1	Promotion by a famous person is called a _____.
2	People often follow those they see as _____ when they are unsure.
3	This quick decision aid is described as a _____.
4	This pattern of relying on trusted figures begins from an _____.
5	Parents and teachers help people learn and _____ of the world.
6	Ordering from a person may make customers _____.
7	Touchscreens give customers _____ to consider products and linked items.
8	Suggestions such as adding extra items are part of an _____ strategy.
9	This can raise typical basket spend by _____.
10	The TV series relied on people learning by _____ others.

11 What is meant by a celebrity endorsement in this context?

- A A customer reviewing a product after buying it.
- B A famous or liked person promoting a product.
- C A shop reducing the price of a product.
- D A scientist testing whether a product works.

12 Why can endorsements influence people when they are unsure?

- A They remove all risk from the purchase.
- B They force people to copy their parents.
- C They provide detailed technical comparisons.
- D They offer a quick cue from someone trusted.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

Answers written in the margins will not be marked.

- 13 What does the speaker mean by a 'mental shortcut'?
- A A way to make quick decisions under uncertainty.
 - B A method for memorising advertisements.
 - C A habit of buying the cheapest product.
 - D A plan to avoid buying unnecessary items.
- 14 Why are parents, teachers, dentists and athletes mentioned?
- A To show that only experts can sell products.
 - B To argue that childhood habits disappear in adulthood.
 - C To illustrate how trusted figures can guide behaviour.
 - D To compare education with professional sport.
- 15 Why may customers refuse extra food when ordering from a human server?
- A They cannot see the product clearly.
 - B They may worry about being judged.
 - C They have no time to make a choice.
 - D They are not allowed to change orders.
- 16 What advantage do touchscreen ordering machines give customers?
- A They prevent companies from upselling.
 - B They make customers speak to staff more often.
 - C They hide linked products from the customer.
 - D They allow more time to view products and related items.
- 17 What is the likely commercial effect of touchscreens in fast-food restaurants?
- A Customers tend to spend more per transaction.
 - B Customers usually buy fewer linked products.
 - C Restaurants stop suggesting extra items.
 - D Basket spend becomes impossible to measure.
- 18 Why did the World Food Programme choose a TV series?
- A To avoid showing any human behaviour.
 - B To replace food assistance with entertainment.
 - C To use stories creatively so viewers could recognise themselves.
 - D To provide technical training for restaurant staff.

- 19 According to Takwa, how do people learn and change in this project?
- A By observing and copying behaviours and reactions.
 - B By receiving direct financial rewards.
 - C By reading scientific papers in detail.
 - D By being ordered to eat together.
- 20 What does the TV programme example show about behavioural science?
- A It is only useful for selling fast food.
 - B It works only when people are unaware of it.
 - C It depends entirely on celebrity advertising.
 - D It can encourage social behaviour by providing models to copy.